

Further Economic Stagnation Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continued high inflation and food prices are predicted by Cabinet members, while a decline in industrial output has signaled further stagnation in the nation's economy.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon joined other top administration economic experts in predicting that inflation will continue at high rates for the rest of the year.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a news conference in Chicago that "the picture's not rosy on food prices."

And the Federal Reserve Board released figures showing a decline in its industrial production index of one-half of one per cent for July and August, meaning there are fewer jobs available in the face of growing unemployment.

In other economic news Friday: —Meeting in Vienna the world's 13 major oil exporting nations agreed to boost taxes and royalties on crude oil by about 33 cents a barrel.

—Energy experts reported that if a threatened coal strike becomes a reality this winter the impact would be an energy cut nearly three times worse than last winter's.

—The New York Stock exchange fell to a 12-year low.

Speaking in Phoenix, Ariz., Simon estimated that by the end of the year prices will still be rising by 9 per cent or more.

Similar predictions have been made by Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Presidents Council of Economic Advisers, and Kenneth Rush, a White House economic coordinator who is to become ambassador to France.

Consumer prices are currently 11.8 per cent above what they were a year ago.

Simon reaffirmed his support of administration policies of reduced spending and a tight money policy as means of combating inflation.

He also endorsed elimination of savings account interest ceilings, encouraging consumers to save more and spend less.

At the same time, Simon said the government should spur high corporation profits so companies can invest in new equipment to increase productivity.

Butz said that he does not expect grocery prices to soar next spring when the full impact of this year's droughts and reduced grain crop takes hold, but he said prices will remain high.

Butz said there will be more beef next year and enough food to satisfy consumer needs.

The Federal Reserve Board attributed much of the August decline in industrial production to strikes in scattered industries, mainly iron, coal and copper.

The August decline came despite a slight increase in the auto industry. Officials said that was offset by declines for other durable goods producers, especially household appliances furniture and other household goods.

Also declining was the production of business equipment, largely because of strikes in the electrical industry, officials said.

Amnesty Plan Calls For Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will unveil a conditional amnesty program next week requiring repatriated Vietnam war resisters to serve from 6 to 24 months of alternative service, according to administration sources.

The minimum period of service is sharply lower than the 18 months originally proposed by the Defense and Justice Departments after Ford announced his intention to consider conditional amnesty.

The length of time a military deserter or draft evader devotes to alternative service will depend in part on his military or Selective Service record, one source said.

In the case of deserters, for example, such factors as length of time in service before desertion and whether a man served in Vietnam would be considered, said an official who has been working on the program.

Postponements of the plan's announcement fueled speculation that it was being delayed or revamped as a result of Ford's pardon to former President Richard M. Nixon and the resulting negative public and congressional comment.

But administration officials say the conditional amnesty program was not developed in concert with or reaction to the Nixon pardon.

Several officials now say it was not realistic to expect the completed program could have been announced any sooner than now, less than a month after Ford suggested conditional amnesty.

One man pointed to the complexities of the various categories of individual cases which must be dealt with. Another spoke of increasing risks by acting too quickly.

Although the White House would say for the record only that the announcement will become before the end of the month, several sources said it would be made within a week.

Ford has already said a civilian review board will administer the program. As many as 50,000 draft evaders and military deserters could be affected. An estimated several thousand of them are living abroad.

Ford Gets Flood Of Pardon Requests

By DUDLEY LEHEW
Associated Press Writer

President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon has produced a stream of requests for pardons for everyone from a former federal judge to all inmates at Kansas State Prison.

And a few judges, although they lack the power of pardon, have freed inmates or reduced sentences after noting Ford's action.

"What I'm about to do is unusual, but that seems the vogue these days," said Los Angeles Municipal Judge Gilbert Alston. "If a man who almost wrecked the country can be pardoned, this defendant can be released to get proper treatment."

With that, Alston ordered released from jail to the custody of his psychiatrist John Gabron, a 27-year-old Vietnam veteran who took three hostages at riflepoint during what was described as "combat flashback."

Before Gabron could be released, however, a higher court nullified Alston's order.

In New York City, U.S. District Court Judge Marvin E. Frankel reduced a 30-day prison sentence to a $1,000 fine in the case of Craig E. Braun, who had pleaded guilty to tax evasion.

Noting that Braun's case involved at most $22,000 in evaded taxes, Frankel said "the alleged crimes embraced by the recent pardon may have included among the lesser tax items tax evasions to the extent of several hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., introduced in Congress on Friday a proposed constitutional amendment that would limit the pardon and reprieve power of the president. Under his proposal, any pardon or reprieve could be blocked by a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress within 90 days.

In Lansing, Kan., Gov. Robert B. Docking was asked by two inmates to pardon all 636 state prison inmates "in order that justice may be served in the proper manner."

A letter signed by Edward L. Robinson and Richard Lee McCarther said that "even before this man (Nixon) could be charged, he was pardoned." The letter added, "We want to make this crystal clear. We have been punished enough."

Docking was out of the state Friday and was unable to comment.

In Chicago, a spokeswoman for Citizens for Otto Kerner said 2,500 signatures have been gathered on petitions calling for Kerner's pardon. Kerner, former Illinois governor and federal judge, was convicted in connection with race track stock dealings and is serving a three-year prison term in Lexington, Ky.

In Missoula, Mont., Bernie Morning Gun, who says he heads the local chapter of the American Indian Movement, says petitions are being circulated ask Ford to grant amnesty to AIM members charged in connection with the 1973 takeover of Wounded Knee, S.D.

"What's good enough for Nixon should be good enough for me," Robert Miranda told Common Pleas Judge George Buchwalter of Trumbull County in Warren, Ohio, on Friday. Miranda, 20, was given three years' probation on a drug conviction.

Joseph Mack, 28, also noted the presidential pardon and asked Superior Court Judge Henry J. Naruk for dismissal of an armed robbery charge against him. "How this power is exercised is an executive question left to presidents and governors," answered Naruk.

Ohio Democrats Open Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 1,000 Ohio Democrats gathered for their 1974 state convention today to adopt a state platform and let their candidates bask in the spotlight, but a rift of some proportions was inevitable.

Even State Party Chairman William A. Lavelle admitted late Friday there was no chance the delegates could end their business session by 1 p.m., as planned. "I've decided that we will take an hour and a half lunch break," the chairman said.

The 9 a.m. gavel for the party's first convention since 1972 opens a full day of activity for Democrats who hope to keep Gov. John J. Gilligan in the Statehouse, send John Glenn to the U.S. Senate, and otherwise displace state and local Republicans while holding their own ranks.

A crowd of about 4,000 is expected tonight for a $100-a-plate dinner, the party's chief fundraiser of the year, in the Lausche Building at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Gilligan will be the dinner speaker, and aides said he planned to include in a sort of party "pep talk" his contention that "Republicans only promise while Democrats deliver." The governor's running mate, State Rep. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, was chosen to deliver the convention's keynote address this morning. In it, he planned to challenge his GOP opponent for lieutenant governor and other Republicans to join Democrats in disclosing their personal financial records.

Traditionally less staid than similar Republican gatherings, the convention's first floor fight loomed over the selection of 14 at-large and 19 alternate delegates to the national party's mini-convention next December at Kansas City.

Democrats picked 64 delegates in the May primary, but opposition has been voiced over selections for the other slots made by Lavelle and the members of a delegate selection committee. The protests alleged lack of representation of certain minority and other groups, including labor unions.

Glenn said he would oppose, possibly in a floor speech, a proposed constitutional amendment to lower from a bare majority to 30 per cent the number of state executive committee members required at meetings to conduct party business.

The amendment runs counter to stated party goal of trying to get more people involved in the political process, Glenn was quoted as saying. Lavelle and others on a committee on constitutional matters said the amendment is needed because it already is too difficult to convene a quorum of 46 on the 91-member executive committee.

Nixon Develops New Blood Clot In His Left Leg

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — A new, painful blood clot has developed in the left leg of former President Richard M. Nixon, and his doctor said the ex-chief executive is suffering from "severe strain and physical fatigue."

However, the doctor, Air Force Maj. Gen. Walter Tkach, said Nixon is "mentally alert" and hospitalization has been ruled out at Nixon's request.

The new clot apparently is not considered extremely serious because Tkach took an Air Force jet back to Washington Friday afternoon. A spokesman at the Nixon home said the physician would return in a week for a further examination of the ailment.

Tkach's statement, released Friday by a Nixon aide who read it to newsmen by telephone, said:

"I have found the former President to be suffering from severe strain and physical fatigue, but he is mentally alert and has been working at his office at home each day.

"The leg is swollen and painful. The clot from the earlier phlebitis, which is still present, causes the former President periodic pain."

Tkach did not say how serious the clot is, and the aide refused to call the former White House doctor to the telephone. Dr. John Lundgren, a Long Beach internist who specializes in cardiology, has been the Nixon's family doctor for many years and is working with Tkach on the ailment.

Nixon has been suffering from phlebitis, an inflammation of a vein, for several months. The ailment created the first clot.

"There is a new venous clot in the former president's upper left leg," Tkach said. He said he examined Nixon Friday morning after arriving here from Washington and had consulted with Lundgren, who examined the former President Tuesday in Palm Springs, Calif.

Lundgren was unavailable for comment.

New Tax On Oil To Hit Americans

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Gasoline and heating oil will cost almost a penny a gallon more as a result of the decision of major oil producing countries to raise royalties and taxes on crude.

Representatives of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries meeting here announced Friday that all member states except Saudi Arabia were boosting royalties and taxes by 33 cents a barrel on oil exports, effective Oct. 1.

The hike would raise the average revenue for each government to $9.74 a barrel.

The OPEC ministers said the hike should come out of oil companies' profits, but oil company observers at the conference said any increase would be passed along to consumers. Most oil companies have clauses in contracts with their customers making such increases automatic.

Jamshid Amouzegar, the Iranian delegate and an unofficial spokesman for the conference, admitted that oil producing governments have no way to block consumer price increases.

In announcing the increase, the OPEC stressed that "this adjustment ... should not be passed to consumers, taking into consideration the excessive margin of profits still being made by the international oil majors...."

OPEC said it would leave the posted price of oil at levels set last January. The posted price is the artificial figure on which OPEC members compute their taxes and royalties, and leaving it unchanged was evidently intended to further pressure oil companies into absorbing the hike.

Amouzegar said OPEC decided to hike taxes and royalties to counter a 14 per cent inflation rate in imports from industrialized countries.

OPEC warned that as of January the inflation rate in industrialized world will "automatically be taken into account with a view to correcting any future deterioration in the purchasing power of the member countries' oil revenues."

Saudi Arabia, the world's biggest oil exporter, did not participate in the OPEC decision because it is negotiating nationalization of the giant American-owned Aramco oil company.

But the OPEC communique said Saudi Arabia had backed coupling any increase in taxes or royalties with reduced posted prices.

OPEC also said some unidentified members would roll back production levels to sustain prices. The issue has led to a wide split between poorer members who want full production and members like Abu Dhabi which are prepared to ration reserves.

The members of OPEC are Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Iraq, the United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Libya, Algeria, Iran, Nigeria, Venezuela, Ecuador, Indonesia and Gabon.

Injuries Fatal To Farmer

An 80-year-old farmer was fatally injured in a farm accident, 2 p.m., Friday, while working in a cornfield along State Route 159.

Guy (Brownie) Holderman, Kingston, was dead at the scene according to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Dixon.

Holderman, working for John Miller on the George Grooms Farm, had stopped to clean the gears on a forage harvester, when the accident occurred.

Authorities arrived on the scene to find Holderman's body hanging from the side of the harvester, with his arm caught in the cutters and gears.

The cutters had mangled the arm up to the elbow and caused a serious injury to the left side of the face and ear.

Miller and ambulance attendants were finally able to free the victim from the machinery by loosening the gears.

Born Sept. 9, 1894 in Ross County, he was the son of Franklin and Maltilda Reid Holderman.

He was preceded in death by his parents, two brothers and four sisters. Survivors include 10 nephews and four nieces.

The funeral service will be 2 p.m. Monday at the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston, with the Rev. Roy C. Osborn, officiating.

Burial will be in the Hallsville Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 1 p.m. Sunday.

Farmland Open For Hunting

"I'm sure there are sportsmen in this part of Ohio who will be interested in the sports sites that have opened on nearby farmland. Some of this sports farmland is in Pickaway County, Galen Mowery, chairman of the Pickaway County ASCS Committee said.

Hunting is the activity available on participating farms, selected for their quality cover for wildlife in response to a heavy demand for such outdoor use in this area. Such farms also are located in Highland, Portage, Richland and Williams counties which have been designated as part of the 1974 pilot public access program of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Mowery said that this test recreational program was approved for ten states. In each state the ASC state committee designated five counties where farm owners were invited to participate. In the agreement there is no charge for sportsmen to use the farmland, and roadside posters help identify the farms.

Further information about activities and farm locations is available in county ASCS offices. For users of the land there is no discrimination as to race, sex, religion, color, or national origin. Local game regulations are in effect on the farms, and local agencies cooperate with USDA in planning and launching the program.

Pickaway County has 70 farmers that have agreed to permit hunting on their land during the 1974 hunting season. These farms include nearly 15,000 acres of land.

Persons interested in hunting should contact the Pickaway County ASCS Office, 1440 N. Court St., Circleville, for details.

Mowery emphasized that hunters need to contact the farmer to obtain permission to hunt. This is a requirement of Ohio hunting laws.

Barbecue Bash Planned At Review

Opening day for the 1974 Ohio State Farm Science Review, September 24, will have something extra for alumni and friends of the Ohio State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The event, a first-timer this year, is an Alumni Bash Barbecue to begin at 6 p.m., at the Sawmill Road Horse Arena. Guests are invited.

Features of the barbecue, in addition to the meal, will be entertainment by the Ohio State Marching Band and talks by Roy M. Kottman, dean of the College, and Cecil Robinson, president of the Alumni Association. Ed Johnson, farm network broadcaster, will be master of ceremonies.

The event, according to Ken Reisch, associate dean of the College, is another effort to maintain close contact with alumni and friends who are so important to programs of the College. He notes that tickets are available at $5 each from the Pickaway County Cooperative Extension Service Office at 137 W. Franklin St., or by calling 474-7534.

Early Harvest Advantages Listed

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Early harvest of soybeans, at the 17 to 18 per cent moisture stage, has some advantages, according to William R. Schnug, Extension Agricultural Engineer at The Ohio State University. Farmers with drying facilities should consider early harvest, he says.

Getting set for harvesting high moisture soybeans not only permits you to start several days earlier but also allows a longer harvest day throughout the season. You can work during those morning and evening hours when beans are just a little too wet to combine and sell directly.

Harvesting a little wet reduces shatter loss, as well as grain damage, during combining, he says. And it will speed up the harvest so you can get wheat planted.

To do a good job of combining high moisture beans, increase the cylinder speed by 50 to 100 rpm's. Also increase the volume of air over the shoe and direct it further back on the shoe, Schnug advises. Keep in mind that soybean moisture can vary considerably during a single day's operation, so check the beans in the grain tank often and adjust the combine as needed.

Most elevators don't want wet soybeans, so dry them at home. For direct sale, dry to 13 per cent moisture, and for one-season storage, dry to 11 per cent.

Soybeans dry quickly, and most drying can be done with unheated air. In fact, Schnug points out, soybean crackage increases drastically with relatively small increases in air temperature as air relative humidity drops below 40 per cent.

The simplest and best system for drying soybeans is in a bin supplied with about 1 cubic foot per minute of air per bushel of bin capacity. Enough supplemental heat to provide a 10 to 15 degree temperature rise of the drying air may be added but will not be needed in most seasons, Schnug says. Manual control is the easiest method of controlling the supplemental heat source.

High temperature dryers have little drying capacity when using air temperatures lower than 100 degrees F. Therefore, they are not as desirable as the in-storage system.

Once in storage, check soybeans periodically, because they gain and lose moisture easily.

Schnug recommends the following care of stored soybeans: aerate in the fall until the soybean temperature is lowered to 40 or 45 degrees F.; hold with aeration checks at least once a week or 10 days during periods of fluctuating temperature; warm-up and re-wet beans to 50 or 44 degrees F. and 13 per cent moisture before unloading bins, in order to minimize handling damage.

All Bugs Have Names

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

"What kind of 'bug' is that? I've never seen one like it before." This is the usual statement of homeowners and gardeners when they come across an unfamiliar insect. According to William F. Lyon, Extension Entomologist, identification of insects that are unknown or unfamiliar to the finder is important in detecting new infestations and for developing controls. So, if you find an unfamiliar insect, have it identified by Ohio State University entomologists. Just send the insect specimen to your County Extension Service, Box 29, Circleville, Ohio or bring it to 137 W. Franklin Street in Circleville. The insect will be identified and its economic importance outlined for you, says Lyon.

Here are some guidelines on proper preparation and mailing of insect specimens:

All larval (worm) specimens must be placed in a small bottle (vial) containing a preservative such as rubbing alcohol, which is readily available.

Adult beetles, bugs, grasshoppers, moths, butterflies and such do not need to be preserved in alcohol. Place these types of insects in a tight container which will not be crushed during mailing. Place loosely crumpled tissue in the container to keep specimens from becoming damaged.

Enclose a letter describing where the insect was found, how many were present, extent of damage, kind of host (tree, shrub, plant, etc.) the insect was feeding on, or where in dwelling, barn, turf, on cattle or poultry, etc. the specimen was found. Include information on any unusual circumstances connected with the discovery of the insect. Place letter in same package with specimens for mailing.

Plants showing damage may be preserved by placing leaves and specimen branches in a plastic bag or similar container and sealing with a rubber band. Surround specimens with damp paper towels inside the plastic. A small label written in pencil giving location insect was found, date collected, and collector's name and address should be placed inside each container with specimens.

Package specimens for mailing in a strong box or mailing tube with crumpled paper around vial or other fragile container.

Don't scotch tape specimens to paper or place them in cotton.

Don't just drop specimens into envelope for mailing. They get crushed before delivery.

Don't send just one specimen, if more are available.

Don't preserve specimens in ethyl acetate or formaldehyde.

Chou's Health Still Poor

TOKYO (AP)—Diplomats in Tokyo believe that the health of Chinese Premier Chou En-lai is worse, but they see no evidence that he intends to resign in the immediate future.

Chou, 76, had a heart attack in May and has gradually withdrawn from official public life. He has not attended a public function since the celebration of Army Day on July 31.

A visiting U.S. congressional delegation stirred fresh speculation on Chou's condition last week when some of its members reported he could not receive them because his health had deteriorated.

This drew denials in Peking, but also a guarded admission that he is not as well as he was when he received Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in his hospital room early in July.

For the first time in several years, Chou last week did not accompany a visiting head of state — President Gnassingbe Eyadema of Togo — when he met with Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

He was absent again on Tuesday when Mao met the Nigerian chief of state, Gen. Yakubu Gowon.

And So It Grows

Clean Up Time

Most vegetables in your garden are beginning to play out now, so a clean up of the garden spot is in order. Plants, vines and other foliage of vegetables that have stopped producing fruit should be removed from the garden. Destroy any diseased plants. Others may be placed in the mulch pile.

Plants still bearing fruit should be given proper care. Tomatoes, for example, will produce fruit until frost, peppers, too.

Excess vegetables may be frozen or canned.

Canning Tomatoes

First off, there doesn't appear to be any fruit jars or lids available in stores. If you have jars on hand, perhaps you'll want to can some of your excess tomatoes. Use new lids, as the sealing surface on used lids is not likely to reseal.

Since proper canning is very important to keep products from spoiling, ask your local Cooperative Extension Service Agent for copies of Extension bulletin on canning.

Flower Gardens

Most annual and perennial flowers will carry through until frost, however, some may have died or taken on a sad appearance during the summer dry period. Cleaning out dead debris and pinching off old flowers will sharpen up the looks of your flower gardens.

Since weeds seem to grow well in any kind of weather, they probably got ahead of your flowers during the summer. Weed flower beds, particularly since weed seed, maturing now, will create problems next year. Weeds should be destroyed, not put in the mulch pile, unless you do not intend to use the mulch for two or more years. Even then, some weed seed will survive and be planted in your garden when you spread the mulch.

Don't forget to take those vacationing house plants inside before frost. Plants moved outside in spring may be too large for their containers now, so repotting may be in order. Also, plants should be treated for insects before taking them inside. Even then, some insect eggs may hatch out later when house temperatures exceed those outside. This will call for another treatment, applied in an open garage or other area that is not closed tightly.

4-H

We are planning our annual 4-H Barbecue this year for Tuesday, October 29, at the fairgrounds coliseum. The festivities will begin at 6:30 P.M.

We will have the annual dinner again this year to honor 4-H members, advisors, and friends of 4-H. This barbecue has been a tradition in Pickaway County for a number of years. In fact, some of the member's grandparents can remember back to their 4-H days when they were the members receiving the recognition for a job well done.

The barbecue is just another example of how 4-H can become a family-a-lare. In this organization the importance of the project is secondary to the involvement of the whole individual and the whole family.

At the barbecue, clubs will receive their premium checks paid by the fair board for exhibiting at the fair. Each club will then have their own recognition night later in the year. At this time each club member is paid his premium money.

The barbecue is supported by industry in the community who make it possible for the youngsters to have another chance to feel the importance of reaching a goal. The barbecue is really the culmination of this year's program, and the signal for 4-H members to prepare for the up-coming year's activities, which are just around the corner.

News For Homemakers

Small children are not always able to put into words how they feel about things their parents and grandparents do. Mrs. Ruby Harris, Specialist in Family Relations at the University of California, has some advice for adults from preschoolers. I would like to share this with you. As you read this, imagine you have a big-eyed, snub-nosed preschooler talking to you.

1. Please don't walk so fast when we go places together - my legs are short, and I can't keep up with your long legs. Besides, there are many things I need to see and investigate along the way.

2. My attention span is short - lots of things last too long - like shopping and visiting and sometimes, even the games you play with me.

3. When I'm frightened of a big dog or something, please pick me up and hold me; that helps more than telling me you won't let anything hurt me.

4. Sometimes it would be nice if you would talk to me and explain why we have to do things or tell me what is going to happen ahead of time when it is something new to me - then I'll know what to do. Sometimes, you might even just have a conversation with me about anything, it makes me feel I belong to this family, too.

Ohio GOP Candidates Talk To Ford

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Republican candidates zeroed in on the White House on Friday, announcing they had consulted or would consult with President Ford about the economy.

Former Gov. James Rhodes, the GOP gubernatorial candidate, said he met with Ford Friday along with 11 other national Republican candidates.

In Cincinnati, 1st District Congressional candidate Willis D. Gradison, Jr., said he has been invited to meet with President Ford to discuss Gradison's economic proposals.

In a White House session Friday, Ford received a certificate of appreciation from 21 Republican governors, then posed for campaign pictures with Rhodes and Republican gubernatorial candidates from Alaska, Maine, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas and Vermont.

A Rhodes campaign spokesman said the candidates also discussed economic and other problems with Ford during the half hour session.

He said Rhodes spoke to the President about improving Cleveland's harbor and with other White House officials about a coal conversion plant for Ohio and traffic congestion around major cities.

Gradison, a former Cincinnati mayor and former assistant in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said he will submit a written proposal to the President before his meeting.

"I'm going to focus on what the government can do," Gradison said. "I'm convinced the government is greatly responsible for today's inflation."

Gradison said he will suggest the government cut programs on fixed items in the budget that cost $306 billion. Until there are cuts in federal spending, he said, the Federal Reserve is going to "lean very heavily on interest rates and credit."

Gradison is challenging U.S. Rep. Thomas Luken, D-Ohio, who won the seat in March.

Health Plan Brings Doubt By Gilligan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan said Friday he hasn't yet been sold on the idea of a national health insurance plan because of the experience with Medicare and Medicaid.

"Before we move into the direction of locking into place another multi-million dollar program, I think there should be an effort to experiment locally and regionally, possibly with more than one community involved," he said.

Gilligan, speaking at a meeting of Ohio health commissioners, their staffs and state health workers, said elderly persons were paying more out of their own pockets for health care now than they were eight years ago when the federal programs were adopted.

He said the state's public health workers should come up with programs to increase health care, put a price tag on them and try to sell them to the public.

"You would find it relatively easy to persuade me we have to do a lot more in the field of public health," he said, "but I'm not the guy you have to persuade."

Gilligan said any new programs should be "practical" and citizens must be told that they won't be able to get extended services without additional costs.

He said public health agencies must decide if they want to extend services into the area of patient care and take on "the old bugaboo of socialized medicine."

The largest collection of credit cards is one of 270, all different, acquired by Walker Cavanaugh of San Mateo, Calif. The cost of the acquisition was nil.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Law Won't Allow

DEAR ABBY: I am an adult, unmarried woman. I feel that I can get along without a husband if the right one never comes along. I want a child, but I don't want to adopt one. I want to experience bearing a child.

I have spent many hours on the phone talking to doctors and hospitals about artificial insemination, but they all refuse to accept me because I am not married. They say it is the "law." Abby, why? I am healthy, well-adjusted and can well afford to raise a child. I have even taken courses in child care and child psychology. Above all, I love children and know I would make a good mother.

Some girls fool around and get pregnant. I have never fooled around, and I wouldn't do it even for the purpose of having a child, but the law says I can't have artificial insemination because I am not married. That's discrimination.

I am willing to go anywhere in the U.S.A., but it would be much more convenient if I could have it done near here. Please help me.

CHILDLESS IN MICHIGAN

DEAR CHILDLESS: Ask a lawyer to tell you if there is a state that allows an unmarried woman to have artificial insemination. If there is none, you are out of luck. I agree, it's discriminatory and archaic. It assumes that a child cannot be successfully reared by one parent-at-fallacy, as widows, divorcees and single fathers have proven.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can help me. At a convention dinner my husband and I were having a wonderful time until I told an offcolor Polish joke. It didn't go over very well.

Later, I found out that one of the couples sitting at our table was Polish. I felt so stupid. I didn't know what to do or say. Needless to say, the rest of the evening was ruined for me. Abby, what should I have done? Would an apology have helped?

EVENING RUINED

DEAR RUINED: Possibly. Now, do yourself a favor and vow never again to tell a joke that puts down an ethnic group. (And don't laugh at one, either.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 29, a divorcee with two children and am considered attractive. About a year ago I spotted

Little Boy Shot While Hunting

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Six-year-old Timothy Madden remained in critical condition at Children's Medical Center in Cincinnati today with a head wound suffered while squirrel hunting in Brown County Thursday.

Clermont County Sheriff Donald Watson said the boy was hunting with his father, Ralph, and his uncle, Harold, at the time of the accident.

Watson said the uncle fired into the underbrush striking the boy.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 14 at the high school.

A Page Of Opinion

Energy Conservation

With the lifting of the crisis image from the energy crunch, many Americans have begun to slip in their conservation efforts.

The question in many instance now is, how much of the higher-priced fuels can the consumer afford rather than how much should he use.

Price remains a tough economizer for many in the lower and middle-income groups. But it is a case of economizing as much as possible on everything in a high inflation era, not just energy.

Industry is reacting more positively to the continuing oil, gas and coal situation. Energy conservation has become the subject of constant management attention in many companies where millions of dollars are at stake. A spokesman for one large Minnesota manufacturing company estimates conservation efforts in the last year have saved the equivalent of 10 million gallons of fuel oil.

One of the major paper manufacturing companies now has a full time vice president overseeing energy matters. To assist him the company has an energy committee delving into ways of trimming an annual fuel bill which totals $60 million.

Many companies which have taken the energy challenge seriously are amazed to find how wasteful they have been in the past. With very little inconvenience they have extracted sizable cost savings. The scale is smaller, but most homeowners will find they can, too.

Bomb Explosion Shakes Madrid

MADRID (AP) — A powerful bomb rocked a restaurant only a few yards from police headquarters in the center of Madrid today. Witnesses said at least six persons were killed and between 20 and 30 were injured.

Police neither confirmed nor denied the estimates.

Some of the victims were believed to be police officers eating at the restaurant.

Reports said two floors of the building collapsed into the basement and that a number of people were feared trapped.

Daylight Time Exception Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee has approved a House-passed bill to return the Unit 3 States to standard time from Oct. 27 to Feb. 23, 1975.

The measure, voted out by the committee Thursday, would amend the emergency energy law enacted last year which provided for year-round daylight saving time.

The Senate already has approved a four-month trial return to standard time, recommended by the Transportation Department, as an amendment to this year's energy reorganization act.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Children born with a defect of the tiny tubes that carry bile from the liver to the gall bladder and from the gall bladder to the small intestine have been destined for death within a few months.

The backup of bile into the liver is a rare disorder and one that has heretofore responded poorly to existing methods of treatment.

A brilliant new operation developed by Dr. Morio Kasai is now being performed in Japan. The results indicate that there is more than an 80 per cent survival rate among children born with this defect.

The operation, performed before the 10th week of life, is a highly technical one which reopens the pathway for bile to flow unimpeded from the liver.

American surgeons are evaluating Dr. Kasai's claims and are trying to duplicate his successes.

The pulsating jet spray used to clean the teeth has been modified and is being used in treating some forms of lung disease.

Dr. David R. Sanderson, of the Mayo Clinic, uses the pulse-flow technique to wash out the entire bronchial tree in order to obtain cells that can be studied under the microscope.

The technique, originally devised for such study, has value, in addition to its diagnostic importance, in loosening up secretions that may accumulate in the lungs.

It is interesting, too, that a similar method of pulsating irrigation has been adapted to clean out cellular debris from the upper and lower gastrointestinal system.

Ideas that are at first highly speculative very often become an important contribution to the practice of medicine.

Dr. O. Richard Depp III, working at the University of Pittsburgh with a group of engineers, can now do heart tracings of the unborn fetus. In high-risk pregnancies, fetal monitoring with this new sonic device can indicate how well the unborn child is progressing.

Actual electrocardiogram-like tracings can be made and studied and followed throughout the pregnancy.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The advisories that banks, investment advisers and economic consultants circulate to customers and others are acquiring a tone that can be interpreted in at least two ways.

More and more of them, that is, are talking about the possibilities of a deep recession. But many of them then proceed to debunk the notion and scoff at what they term superficial comparisons with the 1930s.

The consensus, shared by leading economists at a White House meeting Sept. 5, is for a gradual recovery, a return to stability beginning in 1975. But why, some will ask, is the subject even being discussed?

Argus Research, whose studies are whosoever to many brokers and institutions who then pass them on to their retail customers, has just released a report entitled, "The 70s Are Not The 30s."

"It is our opinion," says Argus, "that the likely course of events in the world economy in the second half of the 1970s will no way resemble what occurred in the first half of the 1930s."

The current problem, it states, is one of inflation produced by excessively expansionary government policies. "The problems that began in 1929, by contrast, were problems of deflation brought only by extremely restrictive monetary and fiscal policies."

In its monthly economic letter, the First National City Bank states confidently that history never really repeats itself. It argues:

"Economic conditions in the 1930s differed significantly from those of the 1970s, a fact overlooked in current predictions of another 'Great Depression.' The fact is that a replay of that tragedy is virtually impossible."

It agrees in general with Argus' thesis. "The chief point to grasp," it says, "is that in the 1930s a U.S. recession, induced by monetary restraint, was allowed to get out of hand."

"When a gust of panic touched off a stampede of withdrawals from U.S. banks, the Federal Reserve clung to its tight money policy, letting hundreds of banks go to the wall."

While making no comment on what many people feel is a destructively tight monetary policy now being pursued by the Federal Reserve, the First City commentary adds:

"No central bank today would — or politically could — repeat the Fed's dismal 1928-1932 performance. With this crucial element missing, a catastrophe of the 1930s type is not likely to recur."

The Boston Consulting Group is more pessimistic. "I am convinced that we are heading into a long period of stagnation at best; a real depression is possible," writes Bruce Henderson, its president.

In a commentary called "Common Sense," Henderson states "we invested vast amounts of capital into environmental investments which produce nothing we can use. Moreover, 'for a generation and more we have suppressed the efficient and protected the inefficient in the name of anti-trust.'"

Prospects for the rest of the decade aren't attractive, Henderson believes, because "we have eaten our seed corn." The nation must sharply reduce consumption of goods and services and increase the production of the same.

Pickaway County corn growers are hoping for a severe winter and they would not be at all unhappy if there was sub-zero days. Hard freezes would mean Mother Nature would be aiding in the battle against the Angoumois Grain moth, a pint-sized bug that was doing a big patch of damage to corn supplies and storage.

Two types of signs asking motorists to exercise extreme caution were placed around Circleville schools by the city service department.

Clarence Francis, Pickaway County game protector, told local anglers that maybe they should attend classes on how to fish after a test net, in the canal, proved that there was an abundance of fish. Fishermen were complaining that the canal had been "fished out."

Pickaway County was to receive about $20,000 as its share of federal and state grants for new highway construction.

Declare Assets On Leaving

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — People leaving Kenya for good and hoping to settle overseas are being asked to declare all their assets, according to a Central Bank directive.

The directive requires all banks in Kenya to declare all the assets of customers wanting to leave the country before any application to transfer money out of Kenya is made to the Central Bank.

Detente With Cuba

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — The big question now is, "Will the Mafia permit the United States to renew diplomatic relations with Cuba?"

I put that puzzler to a big-time godfather the other night as he dined in splendor at Mama Causo's Clam, Pizzeria, Fettucini Alfredo, Chicken Tetrazzini and Spumoni Bar and Grille at the corner of Sacco and Vanzetti Streets in Greenwich Village.

Big Louie (known in his set as "The Philosopher," a title that puts him right up there with Frank Costello, "The Prime Minister" and Meyer Lansky, "The Chancellor of the Exchequer") applied a Tiffany toothpick to an equally precious gold tooth and said "Mebbe si, mebbe non."

I waited respectfully before asking Big Louie the next question.

"Does that mean the Families haven't decided yet on how they'll stand on what is bound to be the next big move by President Ford and Secretary of State, Kissinger?"

"That's right. You can't rush into things in these days, can you? Look what happened when Joe (Colombo) decided without advice to make that crazy speech of his at Columbus Circle. And what happened when Joey (Gallo) got bored at El Morocco and went down late to Papa Pietro's Minestrone, Antipasto, Risottos alla Milanese, Gnocchi, Zabaglione, Gorgonzola, Bel Paese and Espresso Bistrot, without his hit guys and his General Patton executive tank."

"But why be hesitant to give the President and Dr. Kissinger your patriotic support during this honeymoon period?" I asked. "After all, you raised no objection to the recognition of Communist China, the wheat deals with Communist Russia, the recent recognition of Communist East Germany and the overtures to Communist Albania. How come?"

"True," Big Louie said. "But they aren't within our sphere of influence. We've got to look out for our trusted allies. We can't turn our backs on them, as the U.S. turned its back on Taiwan, Quemoy and Matsu."

"I'm sorry, but I didn't know you had allies?" I said. "Who?"

"Puerto Rico, Nassau and the Grand Bahamas, stupid!" Big Louie snapped. "Do you think we'll stand still without a fight and see that Communist Castro welcome all our American suckers to his gambling casinos, depriving our operators in Puerto Rico, Nassau and the Grand Bahamas of profits from their rightful legal gambling and vacation hotels? Did Al Capone permit Dutch Schultz to bring his beer into Chicago?"

"But Cuba's something else, Big Louie," I pleaded. "If you block the recognition process through your powerful friends in Washington, you'll be depriving the President of making millions of new friends in the U.S. and in our two biggest detente nations, Russia and China. Russia and China are sick of picking up Castro's tabs. We'll get them off the hook."

"Besides, many Americans remember Cuba with happiness, pre-Castro Cuba, that is. They remember how close it was to reach during the drought years of Prohibition. They remember Hemingway's favorite bar, Florida, and its frozen daiquiris with the cherry on top. They remember the two best nightclubs of North America, the Trocadero and Sans Souci, and small lobsers with lime. They remember the wonderful hotels, the Nacional and Hilton particularly, the yacht club, the beaches, saloons like that big dirty one on the waterfront, Malecon Drive, Morro Castle, the golf clubs, the indigenous palm trees, the trumpet music, the sad songs, the cathedrals and the sultry women."

"Enough!" Big Louie thundered, ordering his check from Mama

Israel Eyes Peace Talks With Jordan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel will consider peace talks with Jordan by early 1975 if a satisfactory start can be made in second-stage negotiations with Egypt, according to United States and other sources.

This understanding was reached as a compromise during four days of talks Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin held this week with President Ford, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and other American officials.

On the military side, the United States reportedly agreed to supply Israel with a wide range of arms the Jewish state claimed it needs in a hurry.

Discussion will continue on providing the Jerusalem government with newly developed U.S. war planes and on other long-range Israeli needs.

As explained by sources from both governments, Israel will propose a quick start to talks with Egypt on another pullback from Sinai land occupied in 1967.

Then, around the end of the year, separate talks can start with Jordan concerning the future of the Jordan River's West Bank, also conquered in 1967.

Previously, Israel had wanted to hold off the Jordan talks until after a settlement had been reached with Egypt. On the other hand, the United States wanted immediate talks on Jordan, or at least at the same time as the second-stage negotiations with Egypt.

Caruso's battle-scarred maitre d'. "We'll consider what action we'll take on this matter at our next plenary session at Apalachia. The agenda will include opportunities for all Families to express their views. Our accountants are now working up a prospectus on just how much it might cost us in the way of losses at our established places in the Caribbean and Bahamas if Castro is recognized and the exodus of American gamblers and tourists changes course and descends on Cuba."

"Why not bump off Castro if he won't play ball with you?"

"We've thought of that, naturally," Big Louie said philosophically. "But we figured in the early years that if we blipped him, we'd get an even worse Communist, that fellow Che Guevara. When Che left us, rest his soul, we realized that the next guy in line after Fidel was his crazy brother Raul."

"Well, suppose you say to Castro, 'We'll ratify recognition if our 'soldiers' are put in charge of the Cuban casinos and nightclubs, like in the good old days.'"

"I'll put that proposal up to the other godfathers when we meet," Big Louie said. "But I know they'll demand at least two guarantees."

"Like?"

"Number one," said Louie, "only Mafia croupiers, dealers and cashiers, and, number two, an official apology for expelling Ambassador George Raft."

"Does that mean the Families haven't decided yet on how they'll stand on what is bound to be the next big move by President Ford and Secretary of State, Kissinger?"

"That's right. You can't rush into things in these days, can you? Look what happened when Joe (Colombo) decided without advice to make that crazy speech of his at Columbus Circle. And what happened when Joey (Gallo) got bored at El Morocco and went down late to Papa Pietro's Minestrone, Antipasto, Risottos alla Milanese, Gnocchi, Zabaglione, Gorgonzola, Bel Paese and Espresso Bistrot, without his hit guys and his General Patton executive tank."

"But why be hesitant to give the President and Dr. Kissinger your patriotic support during this honeymoon period?" I asked. "After all, you raised no objection to the recognition of Communist China, the wheat deals with Communist Russia, the recent recognition of Communist East Germany and the overtures to Communist Albania. How come?"

"True," Big Louie said. "But they aren't within our sphere of influence. We've got to look out for our trusted allies. We can't turn our backs on them, as the U.S. turned its back on Taiwan, Quemoy and Matsu."

"I'm sorry, but I didn't know you had allies?" I said. "Who?"

"Puerto Rico, Nassau and the Grand Bahamas, stupid!" Big Louie snapped. "Do you think we'll stand still without a fight and see that Communist Castro welcome all our American suckers to his gambling casinos, depriving our operators in Puerto Rico, Nassau and the Grand Bahamas of profits from their rightful legal gambling and vacation hotels? Did Al Capone permit Dutch Schultz to bring his beer into Chicago?"

"But Cuba's something else, Big Louie," I pleaded. "If you block the recognition process through your powerful friends in Washington, you'll be depriving the President of making

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Mommy, tell me a story about dogs! Now that school has begun you may have more time to read aloud to the little ones at home. Here are some suggestions.

A new title in the popular series about a lovable little dog is "Harry and the Lady Next Door" by Gene Zion. Harry gets into trouble this time with an overly loud neighbor who sings day and night. In one silly adventure after another, the whole town is the victim of Harry's efforts to get her to stop singing. This also could be read independently by a beginning reader.

Champ, a long haired stray pup wanders in and out of the lives of two children hunting for a home. Miska Miles, author of "Somebody's Dog" is a Newberry Award honor winner and her sympathetic treatment of children and animals has endeared her to her readers. The pen and ink sketches of Champ capture perfectly his lopsided, wafish charm.

Steven Kellogg's illustrations are humorous, yet gentle. In "Come Here, Cat" by Joan Nodset he shows a pudgy little girl trying to win over a kitten who has other plans. Also by Kellogg is "Can I Keep Him?" which tells of the familiar conflict between a young boy's wish for a pet and his mother's desire for a neat house. Of course, not all children want a python or a tiger cub for a pet! Will Arnold's dream of having his own pet come true? Read and find out!

Some pets are real - some are only imagined as is the one in "The Gorilla Did It" by Barbara Hazen. In this story, the gorilla takes the blame for the misdeeds of a pre-schooler at nap time. But, Mother is understanding and all ends well.

"Animal Tales" is a collection of barnyard adventures that is set off by beautifully drawn animals by the international artist, Mirko Hanck. Geese, goats and other lesser known animals take their place alongside calves and kittens.

Did you know that even today geese are used as guards in a factory in Scotland? "Farm Animals" by Martin Andrews is an informative and colorful book on America's domestic farm animals.

"Big Dog, Little Dog" is a new picturebook by P. D. Eastman. Picturebooks are glossy, well made new paperbacks for young readers. There are many titles including alphabet books, identification books, riddle books and story books. They should be especially useful for beginning readers.

What could be sillier than a female hippopotamus in a lacy petticoat and a flower tucked behind her ear? "George and Martha Encore" is a sequel to the popular "George and Martha."

Frances, the little badger, is a big favorite among small children. "Bedtime for Frances" is a perfect bedtime story. Frances coaxes, begs and tries many tricks but she ends up in bed at 7:00. But the scary things in her room keep her from sleeping. Other new animal stories are "Morris Brookside, A Dog" and the "Poky Little Puppy."

Do try some of our new books by the popular new authors; your children deserve it!

Story Hour for pre-schoolers begins Oct. 1st, Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. Come in or call in your child's registration. See you then.

Cyprus POW Exchange Set

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Sick and wounded prisoners from the Cyprus war will be exchanged starting Monday, 31 days since the cease-fire, the rival leaders of the island said today.

Greek Cypriot leader Glafcos Clerides, the president of Cyprus, and Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktash, the vice president, agreed to start the swap of the sick and wounded, of captives under 18 and over 50 years of age, plus students, teachers, clergymen and doctors held in the island's prison camps.

Full lists of prisoners have not been disclosed, but the International Red Cross reported that it knew of at least 5,000 war prisoners, detainees and hostages even before the second round of Cyprus fighting a month ago.

All the reported captives and detainees were men and two-thirds of them were civilians, the Red Cross said. Swiss Red Cross officials on the island were still drawing up plans for a full release of all captives.

Delegate Mrs. Nona Hankins Attends Centennial WCTU National Convention

Mrs. Nona Hankins was a local delegate to the Centennial of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union Convention in the Sheraton Cleveland Hotel recently. She was the Christian Outreach Director for the Spiritual Life Department of Ohio.

The workshop and praise service held in the Old Stone Church set the mood for the opening session. The church is where the first National Convention of WCTU was held on Nov. 18, 1874.

A reception with a musical ensemble closed the opening session.

Delegates and visitors numbered 1,076 from 20 countries and 42 states of America. Included were 500 young people, members of the Loyal Temperance Legion who joined with grade school children and the Youth Temperance Council from high schools and colleges in a pageant entitled "Reach Out To God." The procession included kings and queens from many states.

A gift of $100 was presented to the WCTU as personal donations from the students. Dan Wittstauck, a student at Ozark Bible College in Joplin, Mo., won the inter-collegiate oratorical contest with his original creation "The New City." Other contestants were from Santa Monica, California College. Ottawa, Kansas and Miami, Fla.

David Coun of Berlin, Ohio, won the Grand Diamond speech contest with a rendition of the essay, "A Certain Young Rich Man." He was sponsored by Holmes, County WCTU.

The Sunday evening pageant, "The Unbroken Circle", written and directed by Mrs. Rachel Waters, president of New York WCTU was portrayed in costumes of various historical figures.

Department conferences were held following the contests. Highlight of the afternoon was a flag and poster parade of YTC members, delegates and visitors, preceded by a drum and bugle corps furnished by the city of Cleveland. Approximately 1,000 persons participated in the march around City Square. Awards were given for centennial posters.

Highlight of a tour of the city was a visit to the Terminal Tower, Cleveland's newest skyscraper of 52 stories.

The convention was closed with a birthday dinner in the Sheraton ballroom. The evening was complete with a birthday cake and state president's reports on lighting the past and future. The 1975 convention will be held in New Mexico.

Pythian Sisters Discuss Plans For Conventions

Pythian Sisters of Major Temple held its first meeting following the summer recess recently in the lodge hall. Announcement was made of the Grand Convention to be held Sept. 18th through 21st, in Columbus. Julia Burton will represent the local temple.

A donation of $50 was made to Franciscan Community Meals and individuals also contributed to the service.

A letter was read from Kay Graham, District Deputy, regarding the District Convention to be held Nov. 13th at Majors Temple.

Birthdays for the month of July recognized were those of, Ruth Griest, Elva Scott, Julie Burton, Jane Winfough and Clarissa Tolbert. The traveling gift brought by Julia Burton was won by Jane Winfough.

Serving on the refreshment committee for the Sept. 19th meeting will be Goldie Lindsay and Mary Dumm.

St. Philip's ECW Discussed Plans For Country Store

The annual Country Store was the main subject of discussion during the Wednesday evening meeting of Episcopal Church Women of St. Philip's Parish in the church library.

Gwen Priest, board president, presided over the meeting. It was reported $75 had been donated to Children's Services of Pickaway County for its college scholarship fund and a child sponsored for St. Philip's pre-school.

David and Brenda Williams, chairmen for the Country Store to be held on Nov. 15th in the Parish Hall, displayed several articles being made for sale. Plans are for all members of the church to become involved in some way this year. The decor will be back to the old-fashioned style and will all be in the Parish Hall and not partly in the basement.

Workshops have been scheduled in the Williams' home for 7 p.m. each Wednesday until time for the event.

Missionary Society Discusses Events

A discussion on the priorities of the church was participated in by the 12 members present. Events planned are a yard and bake sale on Sept. 28th and the annual Christmas Bazaar beginning 1 p.m. at the church on Dec. 5th.

There will be 15 ladies attending the Missionary Retreat at Warsaw, Ohio this weekend. The theme will be "The King And I."

Margaret Ray's Lemon Pie

Chockful of a chiffon filling that's on the tart side.

1 envelope plus 1 1/2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin

1/4 cup cold water

8 eggs

1 cup sugar

1 cup lemon juice

1/4 teaspoon salt

10-inch baked pie shell, see below

Pie Shell: Lightly cut 3 tablespoons butter and 3 tablespoons vegetable shortening or lard into 1 cup sifted flour and 1/4 teaspoon salt; make a well in the center. Add 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice and 3 tablespoons (about) ice water and stir with a fork to make a moderately stiff dough. Roll out thin and fit into a 10-inch pie pan, moistening rim and "hooking" pastry to rim so it won't shrink. Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven until golden — 12 to 15 minutes. Cool before filling.

Woman In Love With Police Job

PARK HILLS, Ky. (AP) — Lee Haynes, Kenton's County's first woman police officer was well on her way to her new career long before she became aware of the women's lib movement.

It started on her 15th birthday when she got a 16-band radio. "I could get police calls on it and I just listened to it for hours," said the tall, brunette.

On her next birthday she went up to the county police station and asked for a job as a dispatcher "because I had all the codes down pat by that time. They told me to come back when I was older."

She came back all right. "I spent so much time up there they ordered me not to come behind the desk anymore. I knew most of the police. Park Hills is a small town," she said.

By the time she graduated from Park Hills High School she was working fulltime as a department store security guard. It wasn't easy, especially the time she was slugged by a sex offender.

"It hurt but I got mad," she recalled, her eyes flashing. "I went out and brought him back. You know, it turned out he was only 14."

She later was hired as a patrol guard for a security firm operating in the railroad section in South Newport.

"I wasn't afraid," she said. "It was interesting."

Her parents, both in their 70s, are resigned to their baby daughter's plans. Her father is a retired Marine officer, her mother an artist.

They pushed her into modeling school but she dropped out for two years at Northern Kentucky State College to study political science and airport administration.

"I'm like that. I get interested in things. But I finally had to quit because of the fulltime work. I liked modeling and I won a lot of prizes painting pictures."

She said she considers herself a "liberated woman but I don't like the women's liberation movement, they've kind of lost their femininity."

"I like male chauvinists. They have more respect for the weaker sex. I consider myself weaker—off the job."

Claim Rhodes Cash Report Fraudulent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. James A. Rhodes has been accused by a Democratic campaign official of submitting a fraudulent financial report following his nomination as the Republican candidate for governor in the May primary.

Eugene P. O'Grady, director of the re-election campaign for Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan, also charged at a Friday news conference that Rhodes has created an illegal finance committee prohibited by the state's new campaign financing law.

James Duerk, a spokesman for the Rhodes campaign, said he wanted to study the charge before making any comment.

Campaign Treasurer J. Gordon Peltier said, "The committee is 100 per cent legal."

O'Grady said Rhodes, in his 1974 primary election financial report, listed nearly $59,000 as a transfer from his 1970 U.S. Senate campaign committee after the same committee reported no fund balance following that unsuccessful contest.

"I contend the financial report filed by the Rhodes for Governor Committee following the primary election (in 1974) was a fraud," O'Grady said.

The Gilligan campaign official also referred to a "rally committee" in the Rhodes campaign that is soliciting ticket buyers in newspapers asking that checks be made payable to the committee.

O'Grady pointed out that the 1974 campaign financing law specifically forbids more than one finance committee to receive, disburse, and be accountable for all money in a campaign.

He said those and other financial activities in the former governor's campaign are "suspicious and demand investigation ..."

Rustlers End Girl's Project To Pay Tuition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-year-old Gail Counts has gone from cattle raiser to typist to pay her way through college.

She was forced to give up ranching when rustlers stole her 620-pound Charolais yearling from her parents' farm in rural Scioto County. She planned to sell the animal for $300 this fall to meet her tuition at Ohio Dominican College.

Miss Counts, one of eight children, said thieves probably shot her bull while it was grazing in the field, cut off the hooves while they butchered it and carted off the meat.

Insurance will cover $150. She estimates it will take 2½ months of typing for the school to earn the other $150 she needs to pay for her tuition costs.

LEUKEMIA DRIVE—The Central Ohio Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America kicked off the 1974 residential drive in the office of Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, the president of the central Ohio chapter, is pictured with Deane Burns, the 1974 Leukemia boy. This month volunteers will be calling on residents for funds to support public and professional education. Each volunteer will be identified by a red and white kit which lists his name and the area he is supposed to cover. The Leukemia Society's goal is $18,000 to be used to continue supporting researchers and over 50 patients in the central Ohio area.

Lottery Operates Without Mail Use

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Lottery Director John E. Kirkland says it is obvious "we can't operate without the mail."

But Kirkland told the Lottery Commission Friday that is just what the lottery did this week in the wake of the Sept. 6 conference with U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe on the knotty problem of federal laws relating to lotteries.

Kirkland said the suspension was ordered on the recommendation of attorney Stephen T. Parisi pending commission action on the issue.

Kirkland said he thought the order "might have been kind of an overreaction" to the Saxbe meeting, during which the attorney general raised the threat of federal action against lottery states.

The commission agreed after hearing Kirkland's report to return to limited use of the mails.

"We'll make an intelligent evaluation next week and try not to mail those items that can reasonably be diverted to other systems," Parisi said.

Federal law prohibits use of the mails to promote a lottery or send lottery tickets.

Parisi said that by strict limitation of use of the mails the commission will be protected in the event proposed legislation repealing antilobby laws fails to pass Congress.

During the week, the lottery relied on parcel delivery services and its own network of field representatives to deliver lottery materials.

Mathematica, Inc., the Princeton, N.J., consulting firm that was hired to set up the Ohio lottery for $250,000, has submitted a proposal to continue as lottery consultant.

Mathematica's responsibilities under its present contract will end Sept. 23.

Emmanuel Gnat, vice president of Mathematica, said the Lottery Commission will need additional advice on promotions and new games "to keep the sales level where they want to."

The proposal is to be discussed at the next commission meeting Sept. 27.

TV Vikings 'Break' Battle Of Defenses

SPIN FOR YARDAGE—Brad Stuthard, a TV sophomore running back, spun around by the left side of the Tiger line, is about to be hit by Brent Mancini (15). Other players are Tom England (72), Lee Stiles (75), Perry Hoskins (12), Bob Dick (80), and Tom Strawser (55).

Teays Valley turned a blocked punt and a fumble recovery, both inside the Circleville 20-yard-line, into touchdowns as they whipped the Tigers 16-6 at the CHS field Friday.

It was a battle of tough defenses all the way as the teams exchanged 17 punts in the game, nine by Circleville. Teays Valley ground out 117 yards rushing and 16 yards passing for a 133 total. The Tigers rushed for 75 yards and, thanks to the heroics of Phil Roll, passed for 76 for 151.

The Vikings collected three first downs, while Circleville managed eight.

The Tigers had the only sustained scoring drive of the night, but that was late in the game and the result of strong passing.

Circleville, which took the opening kick, managed the only first down of the first period in the first series as they moved to the Viking 42 before being forced to punt. TV was also stopped in its initial drive and, following the first Viking punt of the game, both teams were forced to trade punts again.

The Vikings got the better of the exchanges. In the game, the Tigers averaged only 20 yards on nine punts while Teays Valley booted eight kicks for a 32-yard average.

Following the second Viking punt, fair caught on the CHS 14 with 2:33 left in the first quarter, Alan Underwood crashed the middle for two yards, but lost the ball in a pile-up. The Vikings Ted Ross recovered and TV used six plays to score.

Two running plays moved the Vikings to the 12 where, faced with a third and five situation, Chuck Glitt fired a bullet to Ted Ross on the six for the first down. Ross had slipped under Glitt's favorite target, Steve Williams, who took the Tiger defense on a deep pattern.

Two line smashes moved the ball to the one-yard-line and on third down, Bill Hurley crashed in with 11:18 left in the half over the right side.

Williams extra point kick floated through the uprights and the Vikings had the lead.

The Tigers got their only break of the game following the Viking kick but failed to take advantage.

Circleville took the kick on their 37 but four plays later, hurt by a 15-yard penalty, found themselves with a fourth down play from their 11.

Aces Give Game To FU

"We were our own worst enemies," said Amanda Clearcreek Coach Jeff Arndt after his team dropped a 14-0 decision to Fairfield Union Friday night.

Fumbles set up both FU scores, one in the first period and one in the third.

Fairfield recovered an Ace fumble in the first period on the 20 and scored from the two. In the third period, they took an Ace fumble on the four and scored.

Amanda, which managed only 37 yards total offense, lost three passes to interceptions and two fumbles.

AC plays Berne Union at Amanda next week.

UNDERWOOD SCOOTs—Alan Underwood, who paced the sluggish Circleville ground game with 29 yards rushing, appears to be heading into a big hole in early action against Teays Valley. Identifiable players are Pat McNaughton (34), Lee Stiles (75), Keith Pettibone (62), Tom England (72), and Mike Reed (65).

Roll punted this one out but the ball was a floater that was about to hit on the Tiger 35-yard-line. However, Viking Bob Weber made a grab for the ball and Circleville's Mearle Logan recovered on the CHS 40.

Circleville got only four yards in the next series however, and were again forced to punt.

The third period was a standoff, with Circleville staying around midfield and pinning the Vikings in their end of the field.

However a poor Tiger punt as the fourth period began gave the Vikings possession near their 40 and switched the tide as they booted the ball back to the CHS 17.

Circleville sustained a drive to their 32-yard-line, but Rick Sampsill fumbled on a deep reverse and scrambled to regain possession for a 10-yard loss.

Following an incomplete pass, Pat McNaughton settled into punt formation. But Bill Hurley crashed through the protection to block the attempt and Lee Stiles recovered on the Tiger 17 with 7:20 left in the game.

It took Teays Valley six plays to score. The key was a fourth down nine-yard pickup by Brad Stuthard that carried to the Circleville 7. Following an incomplete pass, Stuthard rolled through a big hole for the score with 5:08 left in the game. Again Williams added the extra point.

Circleville took the kickoff on their 37 and moved quickly into Viking territory thanks to Phil Roll, who came into play quarterback with 10 minutes left in the game.

Roll connected with Rick Sampsill on three straight passes that moved Circleville to the Viking 34-yard-line. On the next play he found Frank Merrill on the 19, and after McNaughton ran to the TV 11, Roll connected with Sampsill on the TV three.

The Vikings were slapped with a half-the-distance penalty before Roll flew over his left guard for the score with 2:57 remaining.

His extra point kick was blocked by TIMBER—Circleville Tiger Tom Strawser, lying on ground, knocks the feet from under Teays Valley quarterback Chuck Glitt who was attempting to gain some yardage. Tigers chasing him, from the left, are Bruce Brudzinski (38) and Pat McNaughton (34). An unidentified Viking, on the right, appears to be urging Glitt to pick up more yardage.

Bill Toole.

The Vikings couldn't move after taking an offside kick on their 49-yard-line, but did the damage when Williams punted to the CHS four with 1:47 left in the game.

A running play failed to gain, and two Roll passes fell incomplete before, on fourth down, he was nailed trying to pass from the endzone by Hurley, Dennis Stir, and Mike Reed.

The two-point safety was the final score of the game.

Stuthard, a 180-pound sophomore, gained 69 yards in 22 attempts to pace the Vikings. Hurley, who spearheaded the TV defense, gained 45 yards in nine tries, and Ted Ross bulled for three yards in his only carry.

Chuck Glitt, so impressive as a passer last week, hit two of five for 16 yards.

Alan Underwood paced the Tigers on the ground with 29 yards in 11 carries. McNaughton ground out 14 yards in three tries, Biff Bumgarner picked up five yards in two carries, and Rick Sampsill gained four yards in two carries. Perry Hoskins lost 13 yards in three attempts.

Hoskins connected on two of seven passes for 14 yards. Phil Roll completed five of eight for 62 yards and had one 35-yard-bomb dropped by the Tiger receiver.

The Vikings, 14-6 victims of Groveport last week, and Circleville, which beat Grove City 21-8, both have 1-1 marks.

The Vikings will open Metro League play next Friday in a home encounter with Hamilton Twp.

Circleville will travel to Athens.

Viking Coach Dick Kidwell praised his defense for controlling the CHS offensive line and taking away the Tiger's main offensive threat.

Star of the game, as far as he was concerned, was Bill Hurley who played middle guard and fullback.

Kidwell was also pleased with the defensive play of Mike Reed and Bill Breen, his linebackers, and runner Brad Stuthard.

Ohio State Goes After Minnesota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State's bristling Buckeyes opened on the road for the first time in 80 years today, facing capable Minnesota as the Big Ten's 79th football season was launched with a full slate of conference games.

Eighty years is quite a few more than Coach Woody Hayes has been coaching at Ohio State, but his 24th Buckeye edition was strongly favored to make a successful debut at Minneapolis.

In other conference openers, Michigan—which shared the 1973 title with Ohio State—was host to lowly Iowa, Wisconsin visited Purdue, Indiana invaded Illinois and Northwestern met Michigan State.

The Buckeyes, rated No. 4 in The AP's current national poll, sent 16 returning regulars, led by heralded running back Archie Griffin, against Minnesota. The Gophers last season finished third behind deadlocked Ohio State and Michigan with a 6-2 record.

No. 6 Michigan is still powered with quarterback Dennis Franklin directing the fastest backfield in Wolverine history. Michigan was an overwhelming choice over Iowa which brought in new Coach Bob Commings after the Hawkeyes staggered winless in 11 starts last season under Frank Lauterbur.

"Minnesota is tough all right," was the comment this week by Hayes, who has been under doctor's orders to slow up after a summer heart attack.

"We expect them to be ready for us. Coach Cal Stoll has excellent personnel returning and I am sure they want this game as badly as we do."

The Carolina team in the American Basketball Association was sold to a group of New York area businessmen and moved to St. Louis in July.

Tedd Munchak, former owner of the Carolina team, is the new American Basketball Association Commissioner.

A sloppy field did as much to keep the game scoreless as anything. The afternoon rain had turned it into a quagmire.

The only scoring threat of the tilt came in the first quarter when the Braves recovered a fumble on their own 15 and marched to the Lakers' three where an illegal motion penalty forced them to try for a field goal.

The kick missed by inches. Neither team mounted a serious threat after that.

The Braves gained 144 yards compared to 45 for the Lakers, had seven first downs to three.

Next week the Braves host Canal Winchester. LE and Millersport both lost last week's opening games.

Girls, Boys Set For PPK

More than 2,000 girls competed alongside boys in last year's PP&K competition, according to a Ford Spokesman and the number is expected to be even greater this year.

Punt, Pass and Kick is the popular event which is co-sponsored annually by the National Football League and the Ford Dealers of America.

Girls or boys registering for PP&K must be 8 through 13 years of age and accompanied by a parent or guardian to any participating Ford Dealership. Registration, which is free, ends Oct. 4.

Each registrant will receive a free PP&K Tips Book which includes a complete set of rules, conditioning exercises and punting, passing and place-kicking tips from outstanding pros.

There is no body contact in PP&K and no special equipment needed. Youngsters compete only against others in their own age group and participation does not impair a youngster's amateur standing.

Local competition will be held Saturday, Oct. 5. First, second, and third place winners in each age group will receive a PP&K trophy. The first place winners will also have a chance to move up in five other levels of competition.

PP&K finalists, appearing on national television, will match skills at the National Football Conference championship game on Dec. 29.

The top champions in each age group will receive their trophies from Pete Rozelle, the Commissioner of the National Football League, and have their names enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.

Miller Takes Golf Lead At Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Johnny Miller, facing the possibility of $1,000 fine for failure "to play in a professional manner" two weeks ago, has the lead in the richest golf tournament of the year after perhaps the most highly professional performance of the season.

The slender blond, the sensation of the pro tour this year, birdied five of the first six holes he played Friday on the way to an eye-popping, eight-under-par 63—just one shot off the record on the famed No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club.

"I didn't expect too much when I started," Miller said. "I was just trying to make the cut. But I can't anticipate my low rounds. When I get it going, I like to keep it going. That's when I attack."

Miller, already the winner of six tournaments and more than $256,000 this season, had a 136 total after two rounds of the $300,000 world open. That was six under par and one in front of veteran Frank Beard, who has been in a deep, two-year slump. Beard had a 70 for 137.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin and Australian David Graham were another stroke behind at 137. Irwin had another 69 and Graham birdied his last three holes for a 68.

Jack Nicklaus survived an erratic putter and a poor start for a 71 and 139. Nicklaus threeputted three times and made double bogey on his first hole, but still was well placed just three shots out of the lead.

He was tied at 139 with Bob Murphy, Gene Littler, Mike Hill, Lee Elder and Nate Starks. Hill had a 67, Littler 70, Elder and Starks 71 and Murphy, the first round leader, blew to a 74.

Chargers, Oilers Have High Hopes

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The Houston Oilers and the San Diego Chargers, teams that combined for a total of only three victories last season, have high hopes heading into their National Football League opener Sunday in the Astrodome.

"We've worked hard and this team has a great deal of spirit despite what has happened to distract us from football," said Houston defensive end Elvin Bethea, referring to the prolonged players' strike.

The Chargers, under new head coach Tommy Prothro, also say they mean business.

"We don't intend to be the laughing stock of the league this year," said wide receiver Jerry LeVias. "I don't think the Oilers do either. The Oilers aren't going to be a soft touch any more than we are."

Elsewhere, Super Bowl champion Miami opens at New England, Minnesota at Green Bay, Los Angeles at Denver, Dallas at Atlanta, Baltimore at Pittsburgh, Cleveland at Cincinnati, Washington at the New York Giants, the New York Jets at Kansas City, Philadelphia at St. Louis, Detroit at Chicago and San Francisco at New Orleans.

Oakland visits Buffalo in the Monday night game.

Both Houston and San Diego will be opening with relatively inexperienced quarterbacks. Lynn Dickey starts in place of the injured Dan Pastorini for the Oilers while second-year man Dan Fouts opens for the Chargers.

The Dolphins, in pursuit of an unprecedented third straight Super Bowl title, could be without middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and running back Mercury Morris, both slowed by injuries. The Patriots are coming off a 4-2 preseason, their most wins since 1960.

The Vikings, Super Bowl runners-up, are seeking their sixth division crown in seven years.

Dallas, heading for its ninth straight trip to the playoffs, has beaten Atlanta in all four previous meetings. Falcon Coach Norm Van Brocklin is 0-for-5 against the Cowboys.

Pittsburgh, the league's only unbeaten team in the preseason, will be going with Joe Gilliam at quarterback. The Colts are expected to start a pair of rookies at defensive end, John Dutton and Fred Cook.

Virginia's Bag Wins At Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Virginia's Bag, who went off at 30-1, outlogged the others to win the featured eighth race at Latonia Friday night by a length in 1:05 1-5 for 5½ furlongs and paid $65, $18.40 and $8.

Acts Like a King placed, $4.20 and $3.60 and Call Me Jodie, third, $4.80. Lester Gem and Battle Wared combined 1-5 on the sloppy track for $21 in the daily double. The crowd of 5,100 bet $484,590.

gear, never penetrating deeper than the Madison Plains 33 and gaining only 18 yards, 11 on the ground and seven through the air.

At the end of the first half the score was 20-0 with the Mustangs showing a net loss of nine yards rushing and only one pass completion for two yards through the airways.

Madison Plains in the first half gained 171 yards on the ground, 33 passing and had scored three touchdowns to take a big lead.

In the second half the Mustang defense toughened, allowing only one touchdown, and that a gift through a fumble at the two-yard line.

The Golden Eagles of Madison Plains scored the first touchdown capping a 56-yard drive with a 42-yard run by Jack Maggard, a junior half-back. Built like a sparkplug at 5-feet 5 inches and weighing 141 pounds, Maggard scampered for a total of 144 yards in the game and scored two touchdowns.

In the second quarter the Eagles struck twice, a 13-yard run by senior fullback Geoff Smith and a 24-yard touchdown aerial from Kent Linson to split end Richard Redding. A 50-yard punt return by Maggard just before the final touchdown was nullified by a clipping penalty.

In the third quarter Westfall stopped a 78-yard drive at their own two yard line. But unable to move, the Mustangs fumbled and it was recovered at the two to set up Maggard's second touchdown and the only score of the second half.

Friday the Mustangs host Peebles. It is the third home game in a row for Westfall and one of six for the season.

EXPLAIN THAT CALL—Westfall coach John Glanton asks the officials to explain a 15-yard penalty against the Mustangs. The official claimed the Westfall coach was talking to two of his players at the same time during a timeout.

RETURNING THE MAIL—Gary Thompson of Westfall returns a kickoff early in the game against Madison Plains Friday. The Mustangs' offense was stymied by the wet field and Eagles' defense in the 27-0 loss.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sparky Anderson plays it cool when asked about his Cincinnati Reds and their crucial series against the Los Angeles Dodgers, but he hotly maintains his shortstop, Dave Concepcion, is the best in baseball.

"No doubt in my mind that he is the best at his position," Anderson said, after the 6-foot-2 stringbean played the major role in turning back Los Angeles 6-3 in the opener of their all-important three-game series.

In the other National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3 in 17 innings; the Montreal Expos nipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2; the Houston Astros edged the San Francisco Giants 5-4; the Atlanta Braves routed the San Diego Padres 9-0 and the New York Mets beat the Chicago Cubs 6-0 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second 4-3 in 11 innings.

"Who can do what he can do? Nobody," said Anderson.

Anderson's soliloquy, with newsmen listening in, came after Concepcion walked, stole two bases and scored in the fourth inning and then belted a three-run homer into the Dodgers' bullpen in the eighth.

The Dodgers had a crowd of 52,337 on hand for the opener. They have sellout crowds coming up today and Sunday.

Concepcion's work, augmenting the pitching of ex-Dodger Jack Billingham, cut the Los Angeles lead in the West to 2½ games.

Southern Cal Hurt By Player Injuries

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

All year, Coach John McKay has been saying his Southern California football team has as good a chance as anyone to win the national championship. That was before injuries started playing havoc with his offensive line.

While injuries are playing havoc, Southern Cal will be playing Arkansas tonight in Little Rock as the 1974 season swings into full stride. Southern Cal is fifth in The Associated Press rankings while Arkansas is tied for 20th with Stanford.

In other night action, ninth-ranked Louisiana State entertains Colorado and No. 10 Texas visits Boston College.

Defending national champion Notre Dame has the week off after opening last Monday night with a nationally televised 31-7 victory over Georgia Tech. But the nine other Top Ten teams all open their campaigns today.

In afternoon contests, No. 1-ranked Oklahoma played host to Baylor, third-ranked Alabama was at No. 14 Maryland, fourth-rated Ohio State visited Minnesota, No. 6 Michigan entertained Iowa, seventh-ranked Nebraska was at home against Oregon and No. 8 Penn State hosted Stanford. There are five other night games

Manager Walter Alton of the losing Dodgers had two pluses going into the second game. First, center fielder and star hitter Jimmy Wynn probably will be able to play after sitting out three games because of the flu.

Second, relief pitcher Jim Brewer, out since July 14, returned to action with a perfect ninth inning Friday night.

Tony Perez put the Reds ahead in the second inning with his 26th homer of the year, this time at the expense of starter Doug Rau. In the last half of the inning, Ron Cey evened the score with his 17th season home run with a blast off Billingham.

Dan Driessen's triple in the third set up the Reds' go-ahead run as he scored on an infield out. Then, in the fourth Concepcion walked, stole second and then third before scoring on Cesar Geronimo's single.

Joe Ferguson singled for the Dodgers with one out in the fifth, advanced on an infield out and then scored on newcomer Charlie Manuel's single. The Dodgers scored again in the eighth, but that was after Concepcion had hit his three-run homer.

Anderson named Don Gullett (16-10) to pitch tonight against Geoff Zahn (3-4) of the Dodgers. That leaves the finale on Sunday up to Fred Norman (11-11) for Cincinnati and Don Sutton (15-9) for Los Angeles.

Cardinals 7, Phillies 3

Bake McBride singled home one run and later scored another as St. Louis rallied for five runs in a rain-delayed 17th inning to beat Philadelphia.

The marathon game broke a National League record for most players used, 51. The old record of 50 was set just last Wednesday when the Cardinals went 25 innings with the New York Mets.

In addition, the Phillies used 27 players to break the single club record set by the Cards against the Mets.

The Cardinals moved within a half-game of the division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East. The Pirates were beaten earlier 3-2 by the Montreal Expos.

Singles by Ted Simmons, Keith Hernandez and McBride gave the Cardinals their go-ahead run against the Phillies. A bases-loaded walk to Luis Melendez scored the Cardinals' second run of the rally and Jerry Davanon then knocked in McBride with a sacrifice fly.

Lou Brock hit another sacrifice fly and Ted Sizemore then singled in the Cardinals' fifth run of the inning.

Expos 3, Pirates 2

Barry Foote tripled home a run in the ninth inning, giving Montreal its victory over Pittsburgh. The blow made a winner of Steve Rogers, 13-20, for the first time since Aug. 10. He had lost six straight decisions.

Astros 5, Giants 2

Cesar Cedenio's two-run single in the ninth inning paced Houston over San Francisco. A single by Skip Jutze, an error and a sacrifice put runners in scoring position for Cedenio.

Braves 9, Padres 0

Mike Lum drove in five runs, four with a grand slam home run, and Buzz Capra pitched a six-hitter to lead Atlanta over San Francisco.

Mets 6-3, Cubs 0-4

Tom Seaver pitched a fourthtry to pace New York's firstgame victory over Chicago. The Cubs won the second game on Ron Dunn's homer leading off the 11th inning.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some good news or friendly cooperation should aid you in perfecting long-range plans. Study new trends, developments.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A satisfactory day indicated, but the good will of others will be important. Stress your amiable side, therefore, and speak abruptly to no one.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You can coast on your laurels for awhile, if you do not actually waste time or dissipate talents. The restful day is also valuable, indulged with proper purpose. Romance favored.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Some complicated situations indicated. Be sure you have all facts before making decisions. Whether day is for recreation or you have strenuous tasks, be philosophical.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23): Generous influences should help you to capitalize on your ideas instead of keeping them in the thought stage. A novel touch, an efficient approach will pay off.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Give of your best to those who have proven worthy in the past, but do not waste your time or generosity on schemers or chiselers. Be alert to the motives of all.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Stellar influences now warn against unstable notions and weak or deceptive associations; also indifference, which leads one nowhere.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Don't look askance at those who disagree with you or express "way out" ideas. On consideration, you may find that they contain germs of wisdom. Overall, a promising day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A splendid period for proceeding onward to your goals. If you are not working, at least get in some good planning. Good news in the p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): A day in which to emphasize tolerance and understanding. Grant leniencies that please, without forsaking fair standards.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Impulsiveness MUST be avoided now. Also, temperamentalism and going to extremes. In routine matters, you should do well, especially if you maintain a flexible attitude.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Be patient if things don't go quite according to plan. An unforeseen, but necessary, alteration of your program could prove quite beneficial in the long run.

YOU BORN TODAY are artistically inclined, but may also have a leaning toward the sciences, since you have tremendous patience with research and detail work, about which you are intensely meticulous. You are extremely trustworthy and would make an excellent confidential secretary or, on a higher plateau, statesman or diplomat. Gregarious and usually easy-going by nature, you can, at times, however, become excessively moody—especially if others do not live up to your high standards and ideals. You have a great love of home and family, a wholesome and philosophical outlook toward life. Fields in which you could especially succeed: writing, teaching, the law, medicine and the theater. Birthdate of: Wm. H. Taft, 27th Pres., U.S.A.; James Fenimore Cooper, Amer. novelist; Albrecht Waldstein, Bohemian Gen'l.

Last Year
Was Tea-Riffic
NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Kenya's tea industry had one of its best years last year, when 56,578,000 kilograms of tea were produced. Of this, 51,528,200 kilograms were exported.

Tea Board chairman P. S. T. Mirie said that Kenyan tea exports to Britain — where the bulk of the country's tea is exported — showed a marked decline. Over-all tea imports fell from 192,109 metric tons in 1972 to 185,498 metric tons in 1973.

Kenya remains the biggest tea producer in Africa, Mirie said.

Many ant species develop symbiotic relationships with other insects, acting as guests, slaves or herders, National Geographic says.

A small amount of sagebrush added to cattle feed, say Colorado researchers, tends to eliminate barnyard aromas.

The National Arboretum, established in 1927 for the study of trees and plants, has become one of Washington's great show places.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Third Graders See A Million
FORT DEFIANCE, Ariz. (AP)—The third grade class at Fort Defiance Elementary School is trying to realize just what one million would look like.

The class, taught by Dianne DiPaolo, is trying to answer the question by collecting one million pop tops. By school's end this spring, the class had gathered an estimated 34,000.

Mrs. DiPaolo invites people to send the class leftover pop tops to help reach the one million goal. They can be sent to Evan Roberts, Box 790, Fort Defiance, Ariz. 86504. Fort Defiance is a Navajo Reservation community near the Arizona-New Mexico border.
